International full-service yacht management

NIGEL BEATTY

CHAIRMAN, Asia Pacific Superyacht Association

Chairman's Message for the 10th Anniversary Edition

Dear APSA Members

APSA is 10 years young, and the Asia-Pacific Region is definitely on the superyacht map. First time Asian buyers are taking the plunge, which means there are now more superyacht owners in the region. Those owners will discover the joys of yachting in their home territory, while being in complete safety with family and friends, and with the support of firmly established professionals from all parts of the yachting industry. This organic growth will help to fuel APSA, which will continue to expand.

As a former superyacht Captain, I am so pleased to see the infrastructure coming together. The combination of great cruising destinations, experienced yacht agents, top level refit and repair facilities is unbeatable, and will see more and more yachts heading this way. As superyachts are bought and sold within Asia, yacht brokers, lawyers, surveyors, and registration agents are already in place to serve the market, while management companies, crew agents, flag state representatives, yacht and crew insurance and shore services are all established here and working to assist owners with their onward yachting operations and lifestyle. APSA has an important play role to play providing accurate and reliable information for captains and superyacht industry professionals. Working with the regional yachting associations, APSA will be able to push forward the superyacht agenda.

I was fortunate to be at the Monaco Yacht Show this year, and it was very clear that everyone is ready for real yacht shows. APSA is making plans for 2022 that include APSA Lounges at the regional boat shows, superyacht conferences, and the Monaco Yacht Show. With sponsors already in place, make sure you join us to celebrate the postponed 10th Anniversary Superyacht Night, which promises to be an event to remember!

This 10th Anniversary issue of the APSA Guide includes all the usual listings of members and destinations, but it also includes a brief history of APSA over the last 10 years. APSA now has a complement of 118: 78 Members (of which 15 are Premium Members), 13 Affiliated Associations, 9 Official Partners, and 18 Yacht Members.

Asia is one of the most densely populated regions of the world; an ever-increasing growth of high-level disposable wealth means that the region will play an increasingly important economic role in leisure industries. Many production and custom built brands are heading this way, and Asian-built yachts are being built "for Asia". The depth and breadth of experience in the region was highlighted in our recent APSA Grand Tour webinars. This series is now available on YouTube: if you are planning to cruise in Asia, check out the 20 presenters (thank you, every one) who freely shared their knowledge of their home cruising grounds. AND a digital version of the APSA Guide can be found on the APSA website.

With so much going on in the region, the next 10 years looks to be even busier than the last.

Nigel Beatty, Chairman

APSA 10th Anniversary Messages from Founder Members

COLIN DAWSON Hong Kong (APSA Past Chairman)

"As one of the creators of APSA I am proud to see the Association reach this important milestone. When, in 2009, we started discussing how APSA might work we knew it would not be our generation of Committee members that would see our ideas be fully realised, but that it would take a number of years to establish itself. While we laid the foundations, I am pleased that Nigel and his Committee have taken things to the next level and APSA sits where it does today as an important part of the global superyacht arena."

YP LOKE Singapore (Past Honorary Secretary)

"APSA has played a significant role in promoting Asia as a single cruising destination. It has helped promote visits by yachts from outside Asia, as well as promote ownership within Asia. I have been a Member of APSA for 10 years because I believe its cause is worthy of support. The objectives of APSA need to be sustained over the long term for it to bear fruit. APSA is important to the AP region because it is the only pan-Asia organisation promoting the superyacht industry. The superyacht industry is caught up in the dragnet of regulatory changes aimed at commercial maritime which also impact superyachts, and the industry has suffered collateral damage as a result. Many niche services in the superyacht industry lack the critical mass to sustain. With increasing superyachts in the region more services and start-ups will become viable."

AASHIM MONGIA India (Country Head)

"APSA is a strong network of companies and individuals who believe in the region and its potential to become the next big cruising ground. They put their local knowledge and their collective wisdom to resolve issues in the region and promote the region to grow for the greater good of the yachting lifestyle."

MIKE SIMPSON Hong Kong/China (APSA Grand Tour Presenter)

"As a founding member of APSA, Simpson Marine is pleased to witness the association's growth and expansion. We firmly support APSA's mission of bringing together key stakeholders in the superyacht industry around Asia to promote APAC as a cruising destination for superyachts with the necessary logistical and Government support. We need more marinas, repair and refit yards and better local crew training but we also need regional governments to understand the potential of this amazing industry and to provide their support in facilitating cross-border cruising with friendly tax, immigration, and operating regulations for superyachts. Asia-Pacific offers some of the world's most spectacular, undiscovered cruising grounds in the world but relatively few yacht owners cruise these waters. This is probably due in many cases to the lack of marinas and repair facilities, particularly in the remoter areas but Government support is also needed to develop and promote these destinations. We hope that with the on-going dedicated work of APSA and their many initiatives, this will change in time and the improvements in the facilities, infrastructure and regulations will keep pace with the growing number of superyachts coming to Asia for our mutual benefit."

In Memory: DARAGH O'HIGGINS (TechworX)

It is with great sadness that APSA has learned that one of its Founding Members, Daragh O'Higgins (TechworX), passed away on June 3rd, 2021. APSA sends condolences to his wife Kay and the TechworX team in Phuket, and looks forward to supporting Daragh's legacy which helped to grow the superyacht industry in Asia.

APSA Yacht Members

The APSA Yacht Membership category is complimentary to Superyacht Owners and Captains who are currently cruising or thinking of cruising in the Asia-Pacific region. APSA's goal is to be a reliable source of information, statistics, and industry updates for the Asia-Pacific region, and looks to promote superyacht support services of the highest professional standards. APSA currently has 100 Members and 18 Yacht Members. Membership is by invitation, and APSA welcomes yachts over 30m to become Yacht Members. APSA Celebrates Superyachts in the Asia-Pacific Region

APSA is delighted to note the increase in superyacht numbers and traffic in the Asia-Pacific region. Owners cruising, boats being built, support operations, Asia-based chartering, or long distance charters from afar – they all add up to more superyacht visibility and more business in the world's biggest, most diverse, and most under-appreciated cruising area in the world!

APSA 10th Anniversary: A Brief History

The Asia Pacific Superyacht Association (APSA) is ten years old. Over the last decade, the Association has played an active role in promoting the Asia-Pacific to the global superyacht community as one of the world's three main cruising regions.

It promotes Asian yacht businesses to the global superyacht community, and connects the worldwide superyacht community to those who want to do business in Asia.

2011: ESTABLISHMENT OF THE ASSOCIATION, APSA COMMITTEE AND AFFILIATED ASSOCIATIONS

The idea of APSA was first mooted at the Asia Pacific Superyacht Conference in 2009, but it took time to bring it to fruition. Established by five industry professionals (Colin Dawson, Jean-Jacques Lavigne, YP Loke, Simon Turner, and Gareth Twist), APSA was incorporated on the 20 April 2011, with 45 Founder Members from 14 countries. Affiliate partnerships were established with Superyacht Australia, Japan Superyacht Association, Japan Yachting Professional Association, Thai Marine Business Association, and the Indonesian Superyacht Association.

2012: COMMITTEE MEETINGS, CAPTAINS' LUNCHESES, CONFERENCES, AND THE FIRST AGM IN MONACO

APSA's first year focused on growing the membership numbers and developing the Association's infrastructure. Committee meetings in Hong Kong, Captains' networking lunches, participation in the Asia Pacific Superyacht Forum and APSA's first AGM in Monaco were all part of the first year's activities. Thanks to SevenStar Yacht Transport for hosting cocktails at the Monaco Yacht Show, and providing a fantastic networking opportunity at which the industry was able to discuss the future of superyachts in the Asia-Pacific region.

2014: MEMBERSHIP GROWS, INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATIONS, APSA BOOTH AT SYS, AND LAUNCH OF THE APSA GUIDE.

APSA membership reach a new high of 60 members, many of whom attended the Asia-Pacific Superyacht Conference and Singapore Yacht Show where APSA had a booth. Affiliations with international superyacht associations grew with the addition of SYBass and Superyacht UK as Affiliate Members. The APSA Guide was launched and distributed at the Monaco Yacht Show where APSA hosted a Captains' Breakfast Briefing. Thanks to Peters and May for their sponsorship of the APSA Champagne Night at the Singapore Yacht Show, and to all the APSA members who placed their advertising in the first edition of the APSA Guide.

2015: APSA OFFICE, SECOND APSA GUIDE, CODE OF ETHICS, AND APSA TELEGRAPHS (SYS, MYS AND FLIBS).

With a stronger membership base APSA acquired two full time staff: Lauren Chung (Admin Officer), and Radka Dubayova (Project and Marketing Coordinator) and the office was established in Hong Kong. The second APSA Guide was printed and distributed, along with special editions of the APSA Telegraph. The Committee decided to take a more B2B approach, and established a Code of Conduct and Ethics to promote professionalism within the industry. Country Heads were appointed with thanks to Albert Kong, Aashim Mongia, Andy Shorten, Caroline Harris, Abdulla Waheed, Mark Wightman, Yeow Huey Fang, Nigel Beatty, Janet Xanthopoulos and Christophe Ceard for taking up the challenge. Thank to sponsors Rosemont Trustees for the APSA Sundowners during the Singapore Yacht Show, and Peters & May and i.b.s Superyacht Security for the cocktail reception at the Monaco Yacht Show.

2016: NEW CHAIRMAN, COMMITTEE CHANGES, INAUGURAL APSA LOUNGE, THIRD APSA GUIDE, AND APSA TELEGRAPHS.

There was a change of helm; Colin Dawson stepped down and Nigel Beatty was elected Chairman. Along with changes to the Committee, Colin Dawson and YP Loke received Honorary Life Memberships in appreciation of their contribution in setting up the Association. The inaugural APSA lounge at the Singapore Yacht Show was sponsored by seven members: Super Yacht Logistics, Yacht Solutions, Lodestone Yachts, The Lighthouse Consultancy, Maldives Yacht Support, Yachting Singapore, and Integrated Marine Group. The third edition of the Guide, along with the APSA Telegraphs, continued to promote the Asia-Pacific Region. Thanks to Yachting Singapore and Rosemont Trustees (Asia) for sponsoring the APSA cocktail evenings at the Singapore Yacht Show.

2017: NEW APSA WEBSITE, CRUISING REGULATIONS IN HK, SOCIAL MEDIA, AND NETWORKING EVENTS

A new-look APSA website was launched, along with APSA social media campaigns and the new edition of the APSA Guide. APSA members worked with the Hong Kong Government to make changes to the cruising regulations and relax restrictions for visiting superyacht, and the Superyacht Group (Great Barrier Reef) joined as an Affiliate member. Quarterly networking nights in Hong Kong proved to be popular, and the Singapore edition soon followed. APSA continued to expand its presence at both the Singapore and Monaco Yacht Shows, and the APSA office was relocated to Singapore. The inaugural APSA Superyacht Night, held on the rooftop at the Novotel Hotel (Monaco) proved to be a great success. Thanks to YACHTZOO and Super Yacht Logistics Japan for sponsoring the event.

2018: APSA SUPERYACHT NIGHT AT THE MONACO YACHT SHOW, 5TH APSA GUIDE, AND APSA PARTNERSHIPS

APSA had an even stronger presence at both the Singapore Yacht Show and the Monaco Yacht Shows. The APSA Lounge at the Singapore Yacht Show was larger and more active than previous years, and APSA 'Sundowners' were immensely popular. The Asia-Pacific 'Superyacht Night' in Monaco was more than double the size of previous years with around 200 people in attendance. Thanks to sponsors Tahiti Tourisme, YACHTZOO, Hawk Yachts, and Hill Dickinson.

2019: APSA BUILDS STRONGER LINKS TO THE GLOBAL SUPERYACHT COMMUNITY

APSA continued to strengthen its international footprint through closer cooperation with other Superyacht Associations including Cluster Yachting Monaco, and The Superyacht Life Foundation. Chairman Nigel Beatty participated in a familiarization tour organised by Superyacht Group (Great Barrier Reef). Back in Monaco APSA signed an MOU with Cluster Yachting Monaco. APSA's Asia Superyacht Night became "the event to be seen at," with sponsorship from Benetti, Air Charter, Hill Dickinson, SIXT, YACHTZOO and Superyacht Australia. APSA said farewell to Radka Dubayova and Stephanie Fung comes onboard, and the APSA office moved back to Hong Kong.

2020: APSA GUIDE ONLINE, EDMS AND NEWSLETTERS, AND APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Covid restrictions meant no boat shows, no travel and no events - except for the soft opening of the Lantau Yacht Club in Hong Kong in February, when 'social distancing' restrictions were eased. APSA continued to connect with its members through the online APSA Guide, twice monthly digital newsletters, and special member EDMs. While some parts of the boating industry thrived, others struggled, but by the end of 2020 it was pleasing to note that APSA had 10 new members, with most of the existing APSA members renewing. Suzy Rayment came onboard at the beginning of the year as Marketing Director, but after a few months her role expanded to Executive Director.

2021: APSA GRAND TOUR SEASON, ZOOM AGM, ASSOCIATIONS AND THE 10TH ANNIVERSARY EDITION OF THE APSA GUIDE.

APSA's 10th Anniversary year started full steam ahead with the APSA Grand Tour Series. This 5-week series covered 15 countries with 20 presenters. Thanks to Trenton Gay and David Good (Australia), Mark Wightman (New Zealand), Angela Pennefather (Papua New Guinea), Nigel Beaty (Japan), Paul Brackley (Taiwan), Colin Dawson, Joe Yuen and Mike Simpson (Hong Kong and Southern China), Gordon Fernandes (Thailand), Scott Walker (Singapore), Richard Lofthouse and Andy Shorten (Indonesia), David Jamieson (Fiji and Tonga), Katrina Matheson (Cook Islands), Manoa Rey (Tahiti), Aashim Mongia (India), Prasanna Withanage (Sri Lanka), Nadhira Muneer (Maldives) and Christophe Ceard (Europe). APSA now has a library of YouTube destination videos that give up-to-date and relevant information to the global superyacht community about cruising destinations in the Asia-Pacific. The Virtual Zoom AGM took place on the 6th May, and APSA established partnerships with several regional boating industry associations: Hong Kong, India, Malaysia, Singapore and Thailand. The printing of the 10th Anniversary Edition of the APSA Guide completed this special milestone year.

Committee 2021

APSA would like to thank all its Members past and present for their support. Companies have been started, then morphed and amalgamated, and changed over the years. APSA is proud to have been part of that development, and is looking forward to growth and development of the superyacht community in Asia-Pacific region.

China is very big. From the northernmost port, Jinzhou (40.89N), to the southern tip of Hainan (18.16N) is more than 2,200nm, and the climate goes from tropical to continental cold. History dictates that for a long time there was no such thing as recreational boating in China, and in relation to the population the country is still resource-poor where yachting is concerned. China also lacks a coherent national policy with regard to private boats, meaning that regulations concerning entry differ from province to province and even from port to port. There are marina developments in China but not many that can accommodate superyachts and the administrative labyrinth is challenging to visiting yachts.

HAINAN

Hainan is the smallest and southern most province of the People's Republic of China (PRC). Hainan Island, is the largest and most populous island, which makes up 97% with the rest divided among over 200 islands scattered across three archipelagos. Considered the Hawaii of China, Hainan island enjoys a temperate climate all year round and is the only place in China to have tropical style beaches. Hainan's status has recently changed and with the aim of it becoming China's biggest Free Trade Zone. The master-plan was released in June 2020, and boats, boaters, and the boating industry are on the agenda for future development. Haikou is the capital of the province, while Sanya is the most popular tourist destination in the south.

Port of Entry:

The five ports in Hainan are designated as the first batch of entry-exit ports for yachts from Hong Kong and Macao.

- Sanya Visun Royal International Yacht Port
- Haikou Port
- Qinglan Port
- Yangpu Port
- Basuo Port

Anchorage and Cruising:

In June 2019, the Hainan Provincial Government unveiled an Implementation Plan for "Free Cruising" for Yachts from Hong Kong and Macao in the China (Hainan) Pilot Free Trade Zone. Yachts from Hong Kong and Macao can enter eight scenic water areas with temporary approvals. They are Dongying, Boao, Shimei Bay, Haitang Bay, Sanya Nanshan Cultural Tourism Zone, Longmu Bay, Qizi Bay, and Lingao Cape. The policy also simplifies entry and exit approval procedures, and cancels requirements for single-voyage certification registration.

INTERNATIONAL AIRPORTS

- 1 Hong Kong International Airport

Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China (HKSAR), is an “international port” in the generally-accepted sense. Everything is available in Hong Kong, from fuel to victuals and from shipyards to brokers. It’s a pocket-sized destination, but Hong Kong has an extensive coast line and some spectacular cruising grounds and it’s also an excellent jumping-off point for the Philippines and Indonesia, towards the Pacific, and south in the direction of the Antipodes. Hong Kong International Airport connects to over 220 destinations, and the Business Aviation Centre is the biggest in Asia. With its east-west culture, sophisticated dinning, luxury hotels and world class shopping it is popular tourist destination.

C CAPITAL (Japan)

Around 1,600nm from north to south, and with just under 7,000 islands, Japan spans many climatic regions, similar to the Bahamas/Caribbean in the South and New England and Maine in the far north. Japan's blend of modern day first world ultra-safe society, 2,600-year old history and amazing wildlife and geography come together to create an incredible cruising experience. Japan has had an advanced superyacht marina infrastructure for over 35 years, with full-service dockage for any size yacht, as well as a complete array of shore services to make life simple for Captains and crew. Korea is among the world's fastest-growing advanced economies and is a world leader in innovation and technologically advanced goods such as electronics, automobiles, ships, machinery, petrochemicals and robotics. The west coast of Korea has 10m tidal ranges and endless mudflats, while the east coast consists mostly of small commercial fishing ports. The south coast, from Busan to Mokpo, offers beautiful cruising among thousands of islands, but there are only a few marinas. The marina built in Busan for the Seoul Olympics can now be used by cruising yachts but has little in the way of facilities for superyachts. Picturesque Jeju Island is a major domestic holiday and honeymoon destination, but again not much marine infrastructure.

Taiwan has been building quality superyachts for a long time, and ranks as the 5th largest builder in the world by total feet launched. The same shipyards provide first class refit and repair services. Taiwan has over 800nm of coastline, with the most spectacular facing the Pacific Ocean to the east. Apart from commercial fishing, the local population has been discouraged from engaging with the sea for political and military reasons, but the sentiment is beginning to change. Kaohsiung now has marinas that can accommodate superyachts, and the Penghu Islands in the Taiwan Strait are a pleasant cruising and sailing grounds with growing water sports and recreational facilities.

An aerial photograph of a tropical coastline. The water is a vibrant turquoise color, transitioning to a deeper blue further out. The land is covered in dense, lush green vegetation, including palm trees. The coastline is irregular, with several small inlets and peninsulas. In the background, more land is visible under a clear blue sky with some light clouds.

The Sultanate of Brunei is a small country within the island of Borneo. It is almost entirely dependent on oil and gas revenues which have made it the 5th richest nation in the world by GBP. Brunei has a long maritime history, and the pattern of settlement has traditionally focused on waterways. This maritime focus creates useful advantages for visiting yachts, as any items imported for marine use are duty-free. The coast line is not particularly attractive or interesting, but there are protected anchorages for superyachts on the west coast of Borneo at Serasa, where the Royal Brunei Yacht Club can be found. Brunei offers some easily accessible and well-preserved reefs and wrecks for divers and plenty of golf courses for land lovers.

Sandwiched between Thailand and Vietnam, and held against the Gulf of Thailand by Laos. Cambodia has a mere 443km of coastline, and hardly appears on the yachting map at all. Cambodia's biggest draw card is Angkor Wat, a Hindu temple complex that constitutes the largest religious monument in the world. Phnom Penh, the capital it was considered the loveliest of the French-built cities in Indochina in the 1920s. Cambodia has only recently opened up to boating but its pristine beaches, emerald waters and unexplored islands it will no doubt attract more yachts in the future.

If yacht owners and charterers would just look beyond the Caribbean and the Mediterranean, they would discover Indonesia: 17,000 islands strung across 5,500km of tropical seas, an ocean lover's dream where adventurous yachts seeking idyllic cruise experiences can take maximum pleasure from a plethora of cultural and natural attractions. Indonesia is one of the truly greatest cruising grounds on the planet. From the fecund marine biodiversity of the Raja Ampat to the Spice Islands steeped in bloodshed and history, and from the explosions of Anak Krakatau to the prehistoric wonder of the Komodo dragons, Indonesia is somewhere that can genuinely claim to "have it all". A country in two parts – literally. Peninsular

Malaysia starts just below

Thailand, and runs south to Singapore. Langkawi is beautiful, as well as being a duty-free island, with repair and support facilities for superyachts. Georgetown (Penang) is the stuff that romantic colonial dreams are made of, and Malacca is a slice of history on show. The high spot of the opposite – east - coast is Pulau Tioman but it offers scant facilities for visiting yachts. The rest of Malaysia – Sabah and Sarawak - is on the island of Borneo.

“The Land below the Wind” is safely south of the typhoon zone. The coastlines do not attract cruising attention, but the historic towns of Kuching and Kota Kinabalu are interesting, and the diving on the east coast is world-class.

Only recently has Myanmar, previously Burma, opened its waters to visiting yachts.

A permit is still required. The Mergui Archipelago, in the south of the country near to the border with Thailand, is a world class cruising ground of beautiful tropical islands, totally untouched and unspoiled. There are no support facilities or marinas, so this is cruising for the adventurous. The start point for such cruises is usually 'next door' in Phuket, Thailand.

The other substantially underestimated Asian cruising destination.

You could spend a lifetime exploring the Philippines. Easily reached from Hong Kong, but the best cruising is in the middle and south of the country. The jewelled islands of Busuanga and Coron hide some seriously superior resorts – these days, all accessible by seaplane, as is much of the country. El Nido in the north of Palawan is justifiably famous, although maybe a few too many people have found it by now. Apo and Tubbataha reefs are easily accessible by superyacht, and boast some of the best pelagic diving in the world. There are plenty of ports of entry (10), plenty of international airports (5), and excellent repair and engineering services available at Subic Bay.

You don't visit Singapore for cruising: territorial waters are not much bigger than the island itself. But you do go there for back-up services (engineering, repairs, materials, parts etc) and then sail on to Malaysia, Thailand or Indonesia afterwards. Singapore is a properly efficient and no-nonsense international port, with shipyards and marinas capable of handling superyachts, an international airport and the Singapore Yacht Show - #1 big boat yacht show in Asia.

Thailand, and specifically Phuket, is presently the de facto hub for superyachts in Asia.

Boats arriving from Europe come here as a first port of call. Phuket is right next door to the near-legendary Phang Nga Bay, with good yacht marina facilities and a good international airport. Cruising on the east coast, the Gulf of Thailand, is less well-known but includes the Koh Chang islands. Easy transit from Bangkok Airport to Pattaya and thence onto the water. Superyachts can also anchor at Koh Samui (3rd largest island) and visit nearby Angthong National Marine Park with 42 uninhabited islands. Chartering still suffers from regulatory problems, but there are plenty of ways to “make it work”.

Superyacht activity is yet a major activity in Vietnam.

There are plenty of good anchor-ages, and plenty to see both along the coast (start with Ha Long Bay) and ashore (the Imperial Citadel at Hue). Ho Chi Minh City is high tempo and cosmopolitan, and Hanoi is French Colonial and historical. But be sure to phone ahead: authorities do not welcome unannounced visitors.

Once every two years there is a sailing race (673nm) from Hong Kong to Nha Trang, which is organised by the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club.

Home to some of the greatest civilisations the world has known, India is “a fabulous potpourri of contradictions, diversity and coexistence, ancient to modern art, culture, heritage, monuments, cuisine, languages, landscapes, flora and fauna... amazing and sometimes confusing. India has three archipelagos, Lakshadweep (southwest coast), the volcanic Andaman and Nicobar Island chain (southeast), and the Sunderbans in the Ganges Delta of West Bengal. The Andamans are the most popular destination for superyachts, and yachts are welcome to stop at many of the islands but please check with an agent about permit requirements. Mumbai (formally Bombay) is home to the Royal Bombay Yacht Club a classic institution for sailors and Goa with its natural harbour and Portuguese influence and world heritage sites is another must visit in India.

ANDAMAN AND NICOBAR ISLANDS

This group of 572 islands lies 193 km away from Cape Negrains in Myanmar, 1255 km from Calcutta, and 1190 km from Chennai. Situated in the Bay of Bengal, these two important groups of islets are known as Ritchie's archipelago and Labyrinth islands. Located to the south of the Andamans, Nicobar islands are 121 km from Little Andaman island. Only 36 islands out of 572 islands are inhabited. Home to India's only active volcano, the thousands of square miles of untouched jungle, exotic and thriving wild life, makes this area one of the world's best marine ecosystems.

This astonishing collection of atolls sprinkled across the Indian Ocean have the distinction of looking “just like the brochure”. The Maldives boasts four international airports, and the pattern of islands is covered by comprehensive float plane network. A few islands are occupied by Maldivian villages, but the resort islands outnumber everything else. Resorts need to be as autonomous as a superyacht – everything is imported. There are a number of official anchorages, and any number of informal ones – just avoid the marine reserves of course. Some resorts welcome yacht guests coming ashore for dinner, others do not.

Mauritius is happily in the middle of nowhere. 900km from the nearest land (Madagascar) means that it is surrounded by water as clean as that which you cross to get to it. The white sand beaches are exemplary, and the diving is five-star and more. Port Louis, the capital and only port of entry, has been welcoming foreigners into its harbour for a very long time. 'Discovered' by the Portuguese in 1507, Mauritius was colonised by the Dutch, the French and then the British between 1598 until the granting of independence in 1968: English, French and Creole influences combine to create a vigorously multicultural society.

Tourism is officially the primary industry of the Seychelles, with plantation a distant second. It's not hard to see why: the Constitution lists 155 islands and atolls, the majority of which are uninhabited, and many dedicated as nature reserves - some of them hosting research stations of international significance. In the 1960s local conservationists succeeded in banning spearguns and the use of dynamite for fishing, with the result that the marine wildlife is unafraid of divers and snorkelers. And despite being a small country (pop: 97,000) the Seychelles has a vibrant art scene that encompasses painters, sculptors, writers and poets, artisans of many types, musicians and dancers.

“It is forbidden for yachts to anchor in any other area except a port of entry”. Which means Galle or Colombo, and that’s it. Sri Lanka, once called ‘Serendip’ and hence our happy word ‘serendipity’ is a magical place boasting ancient artwork and architecture, temples and palaces, tea plantations and highland golf courses, wildlife sanctuaries and elephant orphanages, a rich and vibrant culture, and a great deal of pride in the island’s history. What Sri Lanka lacks in modern boating sophistication it makes up for with the warmth of the welcome.

Of course, Australia is a destination in its own right, but it is also home to the biggest superyacht support industry in the southern hemisphere. Marine maintenance, shipyards, refit and berthing facilities are all distributed all along the eastern seaboard from Cairns to Melbourne. This is a cruising coast, too, and don't forget the Great Barrier Reef. For a more adventurous itinerary, include the far north of the Northern Territory, the spectacular Kimberley Coast of Western Australia, and the untouched wilderness of Tasmania's west coast. The great cosmopolitan centres of Melbourne and Sydney need no introduction.

Splinters of green and white set in azure seas, the Cook Islands total 240 sq km scattered across 1.8 million sq km of Pacific Ocean. Pukapuka atoll is fully 1,140km from the principal island of the group, Rarotonga. Once famous for its wood carvings, the art of which was heavily suppressed by Christian missionaries as being altogether too suggestive and idolatrous, the Cook Islands' most notable product is now 'tivaevae' or island scenery patchwork quilts. Rarotonga also supports a thriving contemporary art culture of painting, film-making, photography, sculpture, fabrics and print-making. Superb snorkelling, diving and fishing are the other main tourist attractions.

Cook Island

330 islands in the Pacific Ocean, of which the two biggest are Viti Levu and Vanua Levu. Abundant forest, mineral and fish resources make Fiji one of the most developed economies in the Pacific. The country had had a chequered political history since gaining independence from Great Britain in 1970. However, Fiji is now considered to be entirely safe and stable, as befits an economy heavily dependent on tourism. Very recently, Fiji has invested substantial sums in berthing facilities for superyachts. The 'OPEN' sign is on the door and visitors are very welcome. Blue Lanes are Open!

 French Polynesia is the quintessential Pacific. With 1% of land versus 99% of ocean spread over a territory as wide as the continental United States or Western Europe, both sophistication and adventure await in one of the safest places on earth, where ocean conservation has been a governmental priority for over ten years. Crossing the Pacific westabout from Panama, French Polynesia will always be the first port of call. The names of Tahiti and the Society Islands are well-known – Bora Bora, Moorea, Raiatea – but Polynesia includes the Marquesas, Austral, Tuamotu and Gambier Islands, making for possibly the most fabulous ‘cruise collection’ of the Pacific. The Polynesian islands are volcanic in origin, with fringing reefs, making for spectacular and otherworldly scenery. Tahitian government authorities (maritime, tourism, customs, immigration) have recently collaborated in order to streamline entry procedures and make French Polynesia additionally attractive to yachts and superyachts.

THE ISLANDS of TAHITI

The Hawaiian Islands have long been America's playground, and we'll understand tourism and hospitality. Constant trade winds make for great sailing, and ocean swells pile up on the shores to provide great surfing. The chain of six principal islands was all volcanic, making for spectacular geological scenery, fringed with tropical sands and oceanic blue waters. Visiting Hawaii is as much about volcanoes pouring molten lava into the sea as it is about beaches and palm trees. This is the 50th state of the USA, so standard port clearance and other formalities apply.

Along with most of the Pacific islands, the nation of Kiribati has a colonial past.

What was once called the Gilbert & Ellice Islands was divided upon independence from Great Britain (1979) into two new countries, Kiribati and Tuvalu. Kiritimati (Christmas) Island was named by Captain Cook in 1777, when he spotted the land mass on Christmas Eve. Once a place of whalers, coconut oil and copra harvesters, today it is a protected wildlife haven. Dependent on international aid Kiribati is considered one of the least developed countries in the world. It is however a convenient stop over for yacht going between Hawaii and French Polynesia.

Under the control at various times of Spain, Germany, Japan, and the USA, the Marshall Islands' chief claim to fame is Bikini Atoll, the site of the notorious US atomic bomb tests from 1946 to 1948. Two thirds of the population live on Majuro, which is the capital and most developed atoll. Diving is best from May through to October and provides access to some of the best wreck diving with 25 shipwrecks and 160 plane wrecks from WWII. Surfing experts say Beran Island offers unparalleled access to some of the best surf. In 2011 the government declared nearly 2,000,000 sq km of the country to be a zero-kill shark sanctuary.

The Federated States of Micronesia is a collection of 607 tiny islands and atolls, situated along the Caroline Archipelago to the east of the Philippines. There is very little tourism activity on account of remoteness and lack of infrastructure. In 1944, US carrier forces sank 12 Japanese warships and 32 merchant ships in Truk lagoon, making it the biggest ship graveyard in the world, and now a delight for divers ever since.

New Caledonia is a ribbon of land with a mountainous spine, covered in rain forests on the west side and savannah on the east. The west coast is protected by one of the longest barrier reefs in the world, and the area within provides idyllic cruising. The Loyalty Islands, 100km to the northeast of the main island, Grande Terre, are remote and rustic. Bring gifts for village chiefs. New Caledonia is (presently) governed by France; the capital, Nouméa, is a well-appointed city with quality restaurants and shopping – and most importantly, excellent provisioning. Port Moselle has a ‘proper’ marina, and marine facilities are generally good.

The north island of New Zealand boasts the Bay of Islands, Ninety Mile Beach and the Rotorua Hot Springs. Historic towns and boutique vineyards abound. The South Island is all about the mountains, whit-knuckle adventure sports out of Queenstown, the breath-taking fjords of Milford Sound. Not only does New Zealand offer some of the most beautiful cruising in the world, it is also a centre of excellence for the superyacht industry. Builders, re-fit yards, and all the backup facilities and services you can possibly think of... and having won the 36th America's Cup in Auckland in 2021, New Zealand is still the hottest sailing destination on the planet!

THE 37TH AMERICA'S CUP

The Royal New Zealand Yacht Squadron (RNZYS) and Defender Emirates Team New Zealand (ETNZ) along with the Royal Yacht Squadron Ltd (RYSL) and Challenger of Record INEOS Team UK have announced exciting initiatives to be included as part of the Protocol for the 37th America's Cup due to be published in November 2021.

A string of volcanic islands teetering on the edge of the deepest ocean trench on the globe, and some of them are still active. The principal islands are Saipan, Tinian, and Rota, and are made of lime-stone. Spanish and American influences hang over from recent history, and the remains of World War II are everywhere. Mañagaha Island in the Tinian lagoon is surrounded by aircraft and other sunken war debris. Tinian airstrip is where the Enola Gay took off for the bombing run to Hiroshima. Be careful when timing a visit: the Northern Marianas are in the middle of “typhoon alley” and you don’t want to be here at the wrong moment.

600nm east of the Philippines, and the furthest west of the Pacific islands. The three principal islands – Koror, Babeldaob, Peleliu – are contained within one barrier reef which also contains Palau's most famous sight, the Rock Islands, 200+ tiny and picturesque limestone islets artistically arranged in shallow azure water like background scenery in an animated movie. ‘PNG’ is the eastern half of the island of New Guinea, just 150km north of Australia at the nearest point. It is mountainous in the centre, with lowland tropical forest towards the north and south coasts: a very convoluted geology in the east where three tectonic plates meet. More than 1,000 cultural groups coexist in PNG, and there are officially 851 indigenous languages – diversity on the rampage. The coastal waters of PNG and in particular the islands of the Bismark Archipelago and the Trobriand Islands offer some of the best diving in the world. What PNG lacks in sophistication (eg 5-star hotels) will be more than made up for on board a superyacht!

White beaches, clear turquoise water, lush green jungle, blue skies, gently waving palm trees. Welcome to another Pacific island paradise. Samoa consists of just two volcanic islands and eight small islets. Samoa is one of the oldest and most sophisticated cultures of the Pacific islands, along with Fiji and Tonga. Tourism and yacht services have yet to be developed in Samoa, but all visitors are extended a warm welcome anyway – it's part of the Samoan culture. This is where the celebrated writer Robert Louis Stevenson lived and is buried: "home is the sailor, home from the sea, And the hunter is home from the hill."

Solomon Islands are reputed to have some of the clearest waters among the Pacific islands, and that is a quite a claim. Certainly 50m+ visibility permits the easy exploration of a myriad of WWII wrecks, rich coral reefs, and hugely diverse marine life. Guadalcanal is the biggest of the islands, and Honiara Airport was a Japanese military base under construction when Allied forces arrived in 1942. The Solomons' culture is rich and varied, from wood carving to shark-worshipping and there is a determined effort to preserve the traditional lifestyles of the islanders.

Tonga is, and always has been, an independent kingdom, with His Majesty

King Siaosua Tupou reigning over the 141 islands of the Tongan Archipelago (of which fewer than 40 are inhabited). Along with the sugar-sand beaches and the gently waving palm trees, Tonga is renowned as a humpback whale breeding ground, and offers some of the best and most varied diving in the Pacific. Tourism is growing, and has some way to go, but a number of boat-related and superyacht service companies operate in the capital, Nuku'alofa. Tonga has great potential to boom, and a visit here, now, would be a very good idea.

A string of volcanic islands punctuated by cascading waterfalls, with most of the smokers now extinct, although Mt Ambrym and Mt Yasur are both gently active. Pentecost, in the north of the island chain, is the home of ceremonial 'land diving', often thought to be the origin of bungee jumping. Port Vila is a delightful tropical capital with a strong sense of its Melanesian identity. Further afield, those travelling by water will find friendly and welcoming villages for whom contact with the out-side world is often restricted to visiting superyachts. Travel to Vanuatu is currently restricted. Please refer to the Department of Vanuatu Immigration and Passport Services website for the most up-to-date information.

Two spots in the vastness of the Pacific Ocean, separated 150nm, and with a combined population of 13,000. Wallis is the more 'developed' of the two, consisting of a volcanic island with a fringing reef and lagoon, encompassing a number of small and picturesque islands. Passage into the lagoon is relatively easy for superyachts, and there are plenty of calm and peaceful anchorages once inside. Just don't expect a great deal of sophistication or slick superyacht services. That not what you came to Wallis Island for. Futuna's near-neighbour, Alofi, is uninhabited but surrounded by waters that are a breeding ground for pygmy killer whales.
